Description

This is the first of two half-courses on intermediate macroeconomics. Students will learn the structure and behavior of contemporary national economies with an emphasis on the policies developed to gear them towards the public interest. This course focuses on the Keynesian and classical models of the closed economy for explaining what determines national income, employment, unemployment, prices, inflation, and the interest rate.

Objectives and Learning Outcomes

The course has three main objectives:

- (1) To introduce students to basic macroeconomic models that can help them understand current macroeconomic issues.
- (2) To understand how time horizons can affect macroeconomic outcomes and policy decisions.
- (3) To prepare students for further study of macroeconomics at an advanced level.

Prerequisites

ECON 101 and 102.

Textbook

Mankiw, N. G. and W. Scarth. (2020). Macroeconomics. 6th Canadian Edition. New York: Worth Publishers Macmillan Learning. (Note: The same textbook will be used for ECON 302 in the Winter 2023 semester. You CAN also use the 5th Canadian Edition.)

Evaluation

The course grade is based on a midterm, four assignments and a final exam as follows:

- Mid-term: 30%
- Assignments (4): 20%
- Final exam: 50%

Students are expected to attend all lectures. The mid-term exam is scheduled for October 19 during class time. Students may drop a course, online in Banner, on or before November 2, 2022 for first-term, three-credit courses. After this date, students are not permitted to drop courses without permission from their Dean. The final exam, to be scheduled by the registrar's office in December 2022, will be cumulative.

Four assignments will be given throughout the term. Students are free to work with other students on these assignments and submit their work in groups of 1, 2 or 3. Assignments should be handed in during the start of the lecture in which they are due. Late assignments will not be accepted and will receive a mark of zero. The solutions for the assignments will be posted on Moodle.

The office hours for this term will be conducted online on Blackboard Collaborate. The link for the virtual office hours will be posted on Moodle. Please allow for 5 to 10 minutes for everyone to get on Blackboard Collaborate. Aside from the online office hours, you can also send me questions via email and you can request an in-person meeting.

Please note that this in-person course will switch to online delivery if circumstances related to Covid-19 require it in the Fall term.
