COURSE DESCRIPTION

This course will explore taxation as a tool to redistribute income and to raise government revenue. In specific, we will talk about the government budget, different types of taxes and their impact on the economy, tax evasion, income inequality and redistribution. Finally, we will discuss whether the government should finance its spending by raising taxes or issuing debt. Methodologically, we will study these topics using economic theory as well as evidence from experiments and data analysis.

COURSE MATERIALS

- Textbook (not mandatory but recommended):

Public Finance and Public Policy by Jonathan Gruber, 5th or 6th edition

You can succeed in the course without reading the textbook as long as you attend all classes and take detailed notes. However, if you miss a class, you will need to read the textbook to catch up with the material. You can borrow a copy of this book from the university library. If you miss a lecture, email me and I will let you know which chapter you are expected to read to catch up. The book will be placed on reserve for this course, the call number is HJ141 .G78 2016

- Handouts: occasionally, I will post handouts on Moodle under the dropdown menu called "Lectures".

FINAL GRADES:

	WEIGHT
Assignments (best 3 out of 4)	20%
Midterm exam	40%
Final exam	40%

- Midterm exam:

There will be a midterm test in class on February 16th. In the event of a winter closure on the midterm exam day, the exam will be automatically moved to the next scheduled lecture. Students should be prepared for this eventuality. Should you miss the midterm exam due to extenuating circumstances, you will be permitted to write a make-up exam. Note that requests to alter the midterm date for travel plans will not be accommodated.

- Assignments:

There will be 4 assignments to be submitted on Moodle. The best 3 assignments will count towards your final grade. Since it is important that solutions are posted in a timely manner, deadline extensions cannot be granted. Assignments will become available on Moodle at least 10 days before the deadline. I will notify the class during lectures and by email when an assignment becomes available on Moodle.

- Final exam:

The examination schedule will be available within 4 weeks after the beginning of classes each term. If you are unable to attend the final exam due to illness or due to a serious unexpected circumstance you must notify your Dean (i.e. the Dean of Business if you are a BBA student, the Dean of Arts if you are a BA student, etc.).

- In-class participation

Participation will not be graded. However, note that it is very important to attend all lectures in order to succeed in the course.

OTHER POLICIES:

- Classroom conduct:

I need your cooperation to ensure orderly conduct of lectures.

- Please arrive on time. If you need to leave early on a particular day for a valid reason, please let me know in advance.
- Taking pictures or videos during lectures is not allowed
- Course materials (including lectures, assignments and exams) are designed for use in Econ 392 at StFX University and are the property of the instructor, unless otherwise stated by the instructor. Copying this material for distribution, online posting, or selling of this material to third parties without permission is subject to Canadian Copyright Law and is strictly prohibited.

- Equitable learning:
Everyone learns more effectively in a respectful, safe and equitable learning environment, free from discrimination and harassment. I invite you to work with me to create a classroom space – both real and virtual – that fosters and promotes values of human dignity, equity, non-discrimination and respect for diversity.
- Academic Integrity Policy: <http://www2.mystfx.ca/registrars-office/academic-integrity>
Please note that simply having an unauthorized device (cell phone or smart watch for example) with you during an exam (even if not used during the exam) is a violation of the academic integrity policy.
- Accommodations through the center for accessible learning:
Students who would like to request accommodations are asked to contact the Tramble Centre for Accessible Learning:

Phone 902.867.5349

Email: tramble@stfx.ca

<http://www2.mystfx.ca/accessible-learning/>

The deadline for registering with the Center is two weeks prior to the end of classes each semester and a 7-day notice is required for booking all accommodated tests and exams.

- Important dates:

March 10th is the last day to drop the course. If you decide to drop the course, you must do so online through Banner. Permission to drop or change a course after the deadline can only be granted by the Dean's office.

Following the Academic Calendar, no classes will be held on February 20th -26th (Winter study break).
